BY ANDOR S. MATE

WRITTEN INFORMATION

-Proposal Document:

Around the world, there is a massive amount of comic, film, and video games fans that want to go to a certain event where they can talk about their favorite topic of the series they choose or meet a certain celebrity they recognize, and purchase items or art. What I want to show the fans around the world is the New York Comic Con. I want to demonstrate how incredible New York Comic Con is because Comic Con has provided people with a way to know what is going to happen to their favorite series, but allows certain artists to present and sell some of their works, and brings people together based on their shared interest either a fan or a newcomer.

-Research:

How the amazing New York Comic Con came to be started off when the first convention was held in 2006 at the Jacob K. Javits Convention Center in New York City. It started off modest, but it exploded with 10,000 comic enthusiasts buying their tickets and merchandise that was sold there. Then 4,500 more people came to purchase tickets and check out the event. It went so well, they had to lock down the convention on Saturday. As years went by, Comic Con continued to grow and tickets were selling out quickly. Reedpop partnered with Comic Con. There are panels for celebrities, sneak peaks for film, dealer tables to sell toys, comics, posters, custom items, and Artist Alley where artists show their art from poster to comic books. As of today, over 150,000 people come to New York Comic Con. They have anime, manga, and American comics. The companies that are well known to be participating are DC, Marvel, and Shonen Jump.
